

How to Use compfight to Find Creative Commons Images

1: Open Firefox.

2: Type this URL in the address – compfight.com – hit the return/enter key

3: Type in your search word (keyword) and hit the return/enter key

4: VERY IMPORTANT!

Make sure Creative Commons, Safe Search & Show originals are black (not blue)
Don't click on the Shutterstock images (on the right hand side) they aren't free!

5: Click on the image you like (a new tab will open).

6: Click on the Action button; scroll down, Click on View all sizes

Make sure the size is at least 600 x 600 (or bigger). Sometimes it's called the Large or the Original size.

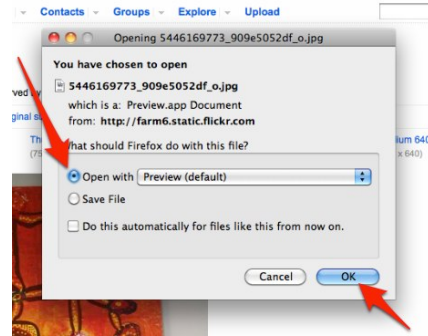

7: Click on the Download link.

Make sure the dot is in the "Open with" circle.
Click OK.
WAIT for the photo to open.

9: Click File, scroll down to click on Save As ...

10: Rename the file (what is the photo?).
Save to Desktop. Click Save.

- Close the photo file
- Close the download box

DO NOT close Firefox

11: Use the back button on Firefox so that you can see who owns the image

12: Highlight and copy (command + c) the URL of the image you have used.

13: Use the F3 key on the keyboard to find your PowerPoint.
Paste the URL on the last slide. (Attribution Slide)
Use the F3 key to go back to the flickr page.
Find the name of the owner of the image. (top right hand side)

14: Write that name on the PowerPoint slide too. (see below)

Remember – proper Attribution (giving credit to the owner of a piece of work) means:

- Write down their Name (either Real Name or Online Name)
- Include a link (URL) to where you found their work
